Re: Floodplain Administration

On March 30, 2016, I issued a conclusion and recommendation to Council concerning the delegation of Floodplain Administration for the Town. My recommendation, at that time, was to maintain the delegation of authority to Coconino County. Council meeting was postponed, so no action occurred on the recommendation. Since issuance of that recommendation, information has been clarified which has reversed my recommendation.

I quote my recommendation text from the March 30, 2016 memo to refresh the issue:

"At current, based on my professional experiences and the potential liability of assuming these responsibilities within the Town administration, I respectfully request the Town Council reaffirm the current agreement with the Coconino Flood Control District and continue to delegate that duty and responsibility to them".

On Tuesday, April 12, 2016 I attended a presentation from Coconino County staff to the Board of Supervisors, acting as the Flood Control District Board. The presentation identified plans for continued studies and prioritized two mitigation projects for FY 2016-2017. Neither of these projects included Tusayan. After the meeting, County staff assured me that Tusayan is of importance to Coconino County, but no projects would be considered until a decision for continued delegation was made; and that no funding would be available for any Tusayan project during FY 2016-2017.

Additionally, but separate to these discussions, I have become aware of a potential development that will be directly impacted by Floodplain Administration. Delays from the Flood Control District could seriously hamper future opportunities.

I am prepared to move forward with a request for proposals (RFP) for engineering services (rather than staff) to become the Town's Floodplain Administrator upon direction from Council.

Flood Control District

Options for the Town of Tusayan:

Town of Tusayan Elects to Remain in the Flood Control District (current status)

If the town elects to remain in the Flood Control District (FCD), then the FCD will conduct an Initial Engineering Assessment, which will include an in-depth hydrologic analysis and a two-dimensional hydraulic analysis of the floodplains affecting the Tusayan Special Flood Hazard Area. A preliminary review of the existing analyses by an independent and highly regarded civil engineer with expertise in hydrologic analyses indicated that it is likely that the volume of flow through the Tusayan SFHA will increase significantly beyond what has been projected by the town's engineer and the historic FEMA flood risk maps.

There are three possible outcomes from the new analyses:

- 1) New FEMA Flood Risk Maps
- 2) New Local Floodplain
- 3) No change in regulations, which we believe to be unlikely

Timing – the FCD plans to budget to conduct the Initial Engineering Assessment (IEA) in Fiscal Year 2017. However, this is contingent upon the availability of funds and approval by the Board of Directors. If the IEA is pursued, then we expect the process to take approximately six months.

Town of Tusayan Leaves the Flood Control District

If the town elects to leave the Flood Control District, then the FCD will not proceed with the IEA. The town will then be responsible for regulating within the FEMA Special Flood Hazard Area. No FCD taxes will be collected within the town limits.

Town of Tusayan Remains in the Flood Control District but Takes over all Regulation

Town of Tusayan Remains in the Flood Control District, but is responsible for regulation of the FEMA Special Flood Hazard Area and all other existing or future flood risks within the town limits. The County would remit to the town annually the property taxes collected by the FCD within the town limits.

Requested Decision Timeframe

The Flood Control District requests that the Tusayan Town Council make a decision regarding its status with regard to the FCD within 60 days so the FCD can budget and plan appropriately for FY2017.
